

Kennedy Bound Over To Superior Court

James G. Kennedy, Sr., 60, Torrance sign painter, must stand trial in superior court on a morals charge involving a 14-year-old boy. When he appeared for hearing before Judge O. B. Willett Wednesday morning he put up no defense and the court bound him over for trial before a higher tribunal, after hearing testimony from two prosecution witnesses.

Kennedy's bond was fixed at $1000.

Three-Fold Tax Deed Program Bared by Supervisor Hague

A three-fold program for the sale of tax deed properties has been authorized by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, whereby it is hoped to sell to the public some 50,000 parcels of such property, according to Supervisor Oscar Hague.

Due to the unusual demand for homes and building sites, the Board took its action in the hope of returning as many of these parcels to the tax rolls as possible, Dr. Hague declared. At present there are some 93,000 parcels of tax deed properties in the county.

The program provides for continuation of the present plan, whereby, after legal action, former owners of property are able to redeem by payment of back taxes but without penalties. It also calls upon the county counsel to find a method whereby the county can sell the more choice tax-deeded property to itself, clear title, and then resell to the public.

"PREACHER" . . . on business ethics, Russell C. Ross, of Plomb Tool Company, will address Rotarians tonight on the practical principles of the Golden Rule in business.

The county delinquent tax lands committee was instructed to segregate tax deed parcels of small value to be put at auction with the elimination of the minimum bid requirements.

Plomb Tool Company Director to Address Rotarians Tonight

Ross is a brilliant public speaker with a broad educational background including public school superintendent, university professor, director of Executive Institute, Inc., and author of the textbook, "Speak With Ease."
